

The Independent Time & Labor Management Association continues the next phase in industry education with the ITLMA Webinar series.

2/23/10 at 2PM (est) sponsored by SaaShr.com.

TOPIC: Adding Ancillary Services to Ensure Business Continuity

By adding ancillary products and services to your offering, we'll discuss the advantages that not only include acquiring new customers, but getting more out of existing customers. Join us for this interactive session while we discuss the ins and outs of offering additional services from deciding which are right for your organization, to how to choose a service provider partner, and who will be responsible for support
