

Timesheets.com Presents Updated Time & Attendance Software

Written by Michael Hoover

Saturday, 18 June 2011 14:48 - Last Updated Monday, 20 June 2011 04:47

Joel Slatis of Timesheets.com will present their recently enhanced time and attendance software at the ITLMA conference.

Timesheets.com allows employees to record project time for multiple customers, projects, and tasks via several convenient data entry methods. The simplicity of our interface makes billing or analysis simple and easy enough to maintain with minimal effort. Project timesheets are independent from hourly timesheets so employers can selectively allow access to only the necessary features on a per-employee basis.

For more information visit Timesheets.com